VIRTUAL EXHIBITION

EXHIBITION NOTE

Dreams explores what happens when the mind lets go, and emotion takes the lead. In dreams, time loosens, logic fades, and feeling becomes the main language. This exhibition brings together artists who work within that space, where images form from memory, instinct, and lived experience rather than intention. Each artwork approaches dreams differently. Some feel held together by tenderness, as if protecting something fragile. Others feel unsettled or unresolved, reflecting how dreams can expose fear, desire, or loss without warning. The works do not aim to tell complete stories. They offer fragments and moments.

Across painting, drawing, photography, collage, digital media, and mixed practices, dreams appear as emotional landscapes.

As you move through the exhibition, the experience shifts naturally. Some works feel light and open; others feel heavy or intense
